Giants Hear the Hun Knocking at the Door

Cardinals Make It Three Straight and Braves Gain More Ground.

EVEN "BUGS" BERMAN BEGINS TO LOSE HOPE

Cozey Dolan Deserves Iron Cross for His Brilliant Work at Bat and in Field.

By HEYWOOD BROUN.

There is at large no more rabid a Giant rooter than "Bugs" Berman, head office boy of The New York Tribune, and yet even he is beginning to realize the parlous plight of McGraw's men. the parlous plight of McGraw's men.
After observing by the ticker yesterday that the Cardinals had defeated the Giants by a score of 4 to 3, and that Boston had won and tied with the Reds, young Berman remarked: "Those Braves are going to give us an awful fight for the pennant."

The Braves might indeed give New York an "awful fight" if they would only stand and meet the issue, instead of running away, but so fast is their that they now lead the league by seven full games.

seven full games.
And, after all, why should the Giants and, after all, why should the Giants strain their eyes to gaze at a distant for hile there is opponent clattering so closely behind them? The Hun is at the back door. When the Cardinals took their third straight game from the Giants yesterday they moved up to a position just one full game behind New York.

Al Demarce and Hub Perdue were the oposing pitchers when the game began, but in the eighth when the Giants tied the score a pinch hitter was substituted for Demaree, and Matty was called upon to finish the game. In a sense the winning run was Matty was called upon to hish the game. In a sense the winning run was carned, for a single by Beck was followed by Perdue's sacrifice, and Dolan's double, yet the Cardinals would hardly have scored but for a sleepy play by

Thus a chance was lost to shut off Beck and prevent the run which he scored when Dolan smashed the ball over the head of Snodgrass. ## Braves Leaving the Worry Belt

The more one studies the chances of

of the fifteen games remaining on their list to cinch the pennant, for if Boston can take that number even a clean sweep by the Giants would leave the New York club one-half a game be-

Even if the Braves alump badly and win only one-third of their remaining games the Giants would be hard put to it o triumph, for in such a contingency they would be obliged to capture twelve out of fourteen games to finish at the top of the league. As a matter of fact, calculations regarding the possibilities for beating out the Cardinals and the Cubs are much more particular trut now. The Cardinals are pertinent just now. The Cardinals are only one game behind the Giants and the Cubs are just two and a half games in the rear of New York.

Cardinals Seek Bonus.

The St. Louis players would like to finish second, and it is not only the henor which urges them on. The contract of each Cardinal stipulates that if the team finishes second the player shall receive a bonus of 25 per cent of his salary, 20 per cent for third place and 15 for fourth.

It is wonderful what 5 per cent will de to animate a team. The pennant might have been just around the corner, to judge by the vim of the visitors. In fact, Jack Miller grew so aggressive in the seventh inning that Robert Emslie could not bear to see him around the field at all. There was reason for Miller's complaint, for he most certainly had Bob Rescher caught off first base.

The iron cross for the afternoon

tainly had Bob Rescher caught of arts base.

The iron cross for the afternoon should be awarded to Cozey Dolan, left fielder of the Cardinals. Hear of his deeds. He scored the odd run in the seventh inning after making a triple, and in the ninth inning he drove home the winning run with a double. Then, too, he caught eight flies.

Dolan is a reformed infielder, and seeing him in action one is never quite certain but that he may backslide. His method for every catch is practically the same, ten steps forward, twenty steps backward, twice around in a circular discovery catches.

Sirs. Edward Raymond, the Midme States champion, defeated Miss Marie Wagner, the national indoor title holder, in the semi-final round of the annual women's metropolitan laws tennis championship tournament yeaterday by a score of 6-2, 6-3. The match, which took place upon the clay courts of the West Side Tennis Club at Forest Hills, Long Island, was witnessed by a brilliant gallery.

Miss Wagner was distinctly off her game, and at times appeared listless, yet it is doubtful if she could have defeated Mys. Raymond even though she had been playing at her best. The victor "had everything," as the sayshe had been playing at her best. The victor "had everything," as the saying goes, and failed to show a weatness in any department of the game. She is now generally picked to defeat Miss Clare Cassel, the international champion, in the final round this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Miss Cassel gained her final bracket by defeating Mrs. George de Gersdorf in straight sets at 6 - 2, 6 - 4.

Miss Florence Ballin assumed the duties of referee from the lofty official chair, calling the match promptly at 2 o'clock. Miss Wagner began the service, taking the first game. Beth began to drive to deep court, with neither showing any particular advantage until the games had gone to 2-all. Mrs. Raymond then started playing with whirlwind speed, running out the next four games and the set at 6-2.

The Middle States champion's backhand strokes possessed both speed and Karl H. Behr and Frederick C. Inman won the title of doubles champions of the West Side Tennis Club at Forest Hills, Long Island, yesterday by defeating W. A. Campbell and F. C. Baggs in the final round of the class A tournament. The score was in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3.

After both had rested Miss Wagner and Miss Cassel went on the court and defeated Miss Helen Bernhard and Miss Rose Goldman at 6-3, 7-5, in class C, singles and doubles, brought the survivors into the semi-finals.

Behr and inman were entirely too much for Campbell and Baggs, and Behr's rapid-fire smashing and playing of shots on the full volley delighted the gallery. Inman usually opened up to the opposing defence by his well-judged forehand drives and his partner finished the point in sensational manner.
